

The current Stanford republican website is chock full of half truths and slanted reporting, all biased towards their town board members and their current board candidate. It is sad to see this kind of partisanship showing up so readily and published throughout the town. This is how we mend fences and bring people together? I cannot remember any publications by either Supervisor Stern or Councilwoman Shafer in which either took credit for something they didn't do; their publications only informed the public and did not even try to twist quotations from other people to their own advantage. Shame on whoever is running the republican website
And on whomever in the party is giving his/her blessing to it.

A Very Distraught Citizen